

I'm shocked to hear that XM Radio listeners could even have to consider the possibility of being deprived of legally available and occasionally time and even life saving broadcasts due the greed, avarice, and power mad tactics being employed by the Broadcast conglomerates. The very Broadcast conglomerates that have directly contributed to the demise of variety in common AM, FM, and Broadcast television and driven anyone with a modicum of taste and desire not be a rat in thier cage, to alternitive programmers, like XM Radio, HBO and it's fellow original program producers. This is America. Freedom is our birthright. The skys and airwaves do not belong to the rich and powerful only. The same political lobbying and influnce that have already ruined a once pristine living environment are now seeking to strangle the broadcast medium and force feed us all the same pablam that the big broadcasters and their lackeys have forced into the standard American's entertainment diet. Survivor? Reality TV? Rush Limbaugh? It's our right as Americans to hear and see quality entertainment and news without NAB's fingerprints on it!Sincerely,
David Smart